Nearly Half a Hundred Styles in Sideboards.

Honestly put together furniture—nicely finished up. Furniture from the same sources that your old furniture dealer has bought for years, but these were bought different. Bought for cash and bought when money would go the farthest—the dull seasons of the year.

These sideboards have swell drawers, heavy bevel plate glass mirror, in good generous sizes. $10.75, $13, $15.75 and $21.

$5.98 to $10 Couches.

Couches covered with figured or plain velvet velours and corduroys; close tufted work or just plain, but all with spring sides—a full equipment of springs; no matter how cheap the couch you will find them thoroughly well mounted; differences in finishing touches, but every couch you buy here is sold with the store's liberal guarantee.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND TEACHERS' INSTITUTE—WATTERSON LECTURES ON LINCOLN—SHORT TERM OF CRIMINAL COURT—AN UNJUST LAW IMPRISONS AN INNOCENT WOMAN.

Now that the election is a thing of the past the next matter of public interest will be the proceedings of November criminal court, which will convene on Monday next. The list of cases is very small, comprising about 15, which will probably be disposed of in two or three days. The most interesting case will be that of the Allens, husband and and wife, who are charged with obstructing the course of public justice. Franklin Allen and his wife are brother in-law and sister of Anna Edwards, the woman who was murdered in her cottage at Jamison last spring. The arrest of the Allens has to do with that case, but in what respect remains to be seen.

The Bucks County Teachers' Institute closed last Friday after a most interesting and successful session. The instructors who talked to the teachers upon various topics during the day sessions were all able men, and the evening lecturers were both instructive and entertaining. The court room was crowded beyond its seating capacity upon several occasions during both day and evening sessions. Henry Watterson, the distinguished Kentucky journalist, attracted an immense audience. He spoke most eloquently upon the life and character of Abraham Lincoln, whom he knew personally. Mr. Watterson touched upon politics incidentally and described the Democratic party as still divided. An encouraging feature of the Institute was the great interest evinced by the teachers and School Directors in their various educational organizations, which have been productive of much good.

Speaking of the court suggests the fact that there is a law upon the statute books of this State which ought to be repealed. It has been brought to public attention by the fact that a woman, entirely respectable and law-abiding so far as the public is informed, has been taken into custody and locked up in jail in order that she may be held as a witness in a burglary case to be tried next week. This incarceration of innocent people in a jail because they are suspected of having information which they may not be on hand to divulge is regarded as an outrage by many people from the fact that it makes distinctions as to persons, which the law is not supposed to do. It is punishing one upon the mere presumption of another who alleges no violation of law. The woman was sent to jail because she could not give bonds for her appearance, which was her misfortune and not her fault. If one witness is placed under bonds to appear at court the same security should be demanded of every other witness. It seems incredible that the law has been tolerated so many years. It inflicts dire punishment upon persons guilty of no crime or misdemeanor, and discriminates in an ugly fashion between individuals.

PENN VALLEY.

Thomas Scott, of Bristol, was visiting in Penn Valley on Saturday.

Mrs. John Pancoast returned on Tuesday from a week's visit to New York city.

A birthday party was given at the residence of Howard Lovett on Monday evening.

Henry Nelson, of Asbury Park, N. J., who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. George L. White, returned to his home Saturday.

Oscar Paff, of Penn Valley, has secured a position at Roebling's mill, Trenton, and entered upon his duties there last last week.

E. H. Carver, a United States Pension Examiner, is spending a few days at his home in Lower Falls township. Mr. Carver has for some time been working in the State of Maine.

Dennis Ryan, who was very sick at his home here for some time, was recently taken to the residence of his daughter at New Hope. His house and lot and also his personal property is advertised to be sold at public sale on the 17th inst.

Charles Patterson was quite badly hurt last week. He attempted to give one of his horses, which was sick, some medicine, when it struck him in the breast with its head with such force that some of Mr. Patterson's ribs were fractured. He has been under the doctor's care and is now getting better.

Henry C. Dickel met with an accident last week that fortunately was not as serious as it might have been. While walking over an unused well in his yard it suddenly caved in, carrying the board covering and all down. Mr. Dickel fell down seven or eight feet and was helped out not much hurt. He lost his hat, which was buried in the bottom of the well.

PENN'S MANOR.

Last Sunday evening Rev. Mr. Pittenger preached a very plain sermon from Hab. 3: 2. It was announced that next Sunday evening he will be assisted by two young men from Trenton.

The Oyster Supper which was to have been been held in the Chapel on Nov. 5th, was postponed until a later date, due to the illness of some of its promoters.

One day last week, the team belonging to Mr. James Newman was seen coming down the road at a rapid pace. He had been taking corn to Bristol, and accidentally his team was left standing alone when they started at a runaway pace. Mr. Newman, however enjoyed a ride home in a carriage.

Frank Mershon, who was ill of typhoid fever, is steadily improving, and we hope he may soon be with us again.

Mr. James Stinson is sick yet, he is improving very slowly; also Mr. Joseph Beck is still confined to his bed, he seems to have more than his share of sickness, which makes it pretty hard for Mrs. Beck.

Election day passed by very quietly. It seems there was not quite the interest taken by the voters in this lower district that the importance of this election demanded. Only a little over half of the registered votes were cast in the ballot box.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is not a common every day cough mixture. It is a marvelous remedy for all the troublesome and dangerous complications resulting from a cold in the head, throat, chest or lungs. Sold for 25 cts.

TULLYTOWN.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST—BOROUGH COUNCIL HOLDS A SHORT SESSION—CAPTAIN EDWARDS POLLS A LARGE VOTE, WITH JOHN T. FISH A CLOSE SECOND.

Mr. Borveaw, of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Mr. John Burton, of this borough.

Mrs. Simpson is confined to the house by illness. Her friends hope to soon see her about.

Mr. Thomas Owens came home for a few days and assisted the Republicans in getting out the vote last Tuesday.

At the regular meeting of the Borough Council last Monday evening there was no business beyond the passage of a few bills.

The many friends of Mr. William Garretson are anxious over his present illness. Mr. Garretson is one of our best neighbors and a good friend to all who know him.

Mr. Briggs Weaymans, an old-time resident of the borough, has removed to take charge of Croydon station. While our townsmen regret losing so good a neighbor they are glad to know that he has been promoted in the service of the company he has served so faithfully.

Last Tuesday was generally observed as a holiday in the borough, and both parties gave their best efforts to get out a full vote. The result fully repaid the efforts of the Republicans. Captain Frank G. Edwards led the ticket with 98 votes, Mr. John T. Fish being a close second with a vote of 91.

The vote for Captain Edwards was the largest ever cast for any candidate in the history of the borough, and shows the popularity of this candidate in the vicinity of his home.

Mr. John T. Fish is to be congratulated on his excellent showing, the independent candidate who opposed him receiving but two votes. There was a decided falling off of the Swallow vote, as he received but three votes against eight last year.

Mr. Charles Wright by reason of his strong friendship and popularity in the borough ran ahead of Mr. Wollery for County Treasurer. Mr. Wright was a former resident of the borough and consequently had a large personal following.

The tendency of many Republicans to cut Rice for Hagerty was counteracted by the presence of Hon. H. J. Shoemaker, who used his best efforts in the interest of his late opponent for the nomination for State Senator. Mr. Shoemaker reached Tullytown before noon and generously exerted himself to allay the soreness of his former supporters by rallying them to the support of Mr. Rice. As a direct result of his efforts Mr. Rice obtained a plurality over Mr. Hagerty in spite of a determined effort on the part of the friends of the latter candidate to run him ahead of his ticket. The fact that W. A. Stone ran but two votes ahead of Mr. Rice speaks volumes for the loyalty of Hon. H. J. Shoemaker to the Republican party. His many friends here, while somewhat disappointed that he was not on the ticket this fall, can be depended upon to give enthusiastic support to him should he again become a candidate for public office.

One of the most encouraging features of election day was the fact as shown by the returns that our present Congressman, Hon. Irving P. Wanger ran considerably ahead of his ticket. No Congressman from this district has made a better record than Mr. Wanger, and the soldier vote especially rallied nobly to his support. The attention of this popular Congressman to the letters and needs of his constituents bids fair to make him a fixture in the national house of representatives as a member from the seventh district.

Taking the result of the election as a whole, Republicans may well congratulate themselves that they have effectively squelched the elements of discord within the party and are now ready to present a united front at the next national election.

FALLSINGTON.

Elwood Watson, of Asbury Park, is visiting in the neighborhood.

A very dry day for election, but Fish swam ahead of all others.

Edgar Watson and wife, of Collingswood, N. J., were visitors in the village this week.

Swallow votes flew around as was expected, but from the Democratic as well as the Republican lines.

Abram Servis' horse ran away while coming home from Trenton last Friday, damaging the wagon somewhat.

Total number of votes cast in Upper Falls at the present election was 247. In the Presidential election 257 were cast.

Charles C. Watson, Joseph White and M. Wharton Hirst will spend Thursday in New Jersey on account of the opening of the hunting season.

A. P. Bruce met with an accident last week which has crippled one hand for a time. While cleaning a lawn mower the blades accidentally turned and nearly severed one finger and cut another.

EDGELY.

Mrs. Andrew Harshaw and son, David, spent Wednesday in Philadelphia.

Mr. J. Y. Williams has been confined to the house for several days with a cold.

Miss Lillian Wells, of Philadelphia, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Leigh.

Mr. Camil von Bressensdorf returned several weeks ago from a trip in Lycoming county, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. King and Mrs. Edmund Hellings attended the Teacher's Institute at Doylestown on Thursday, it being "Directors' Day."

The "house warming" at William Carter's was largely attended, there being about seventy-five present from Philadelphia, Bristol, Emilie, Tullytown and Fallsington. At the entrance to the driveway hung a large American flag with lanterns on each side. The evening was spent in dancing and other amusements.

The Homeliest man in Bristol

MORRISVILLE.

SOCIAL MEETING OF THE BOYS' BRIGADE—MORRISVILLE'S FOOT BALL TEAM WINS SATURDAY'S GAME—COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS—OTHER ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

William Foster is about on crutches.

Robert Race is a weekly visitor to our town.

Mrs. Mary Temple has moved back to town.

Mr. Howell Roberts is making improvements to his home.

The street by the upper bridge is being filled in with gravel.

Edwin Mason, wife and family are on a two week's vacation.

The Morrisville foot ball team won on Saturday by a score of 5 to 0.

Mrs. Edwin Wright has returned from a week's visit at Doylestown.

Miss Sallie Margerum was a visitor to our town on Saturday and Sunday.

Don't fail to attend VanBuskirk's comic concert Saturday evening at Mechanics' Hall.

Charles Moore and family have returned from a week's visit to Lewis R. Bond, at Doylestown.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. initiated two new members every week. Come out, boys, and be one of us.

Miss Lizzie Johnson is a visitor to our town. She is taking her winter vacation and will be here until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. VanBuskirk left for the home of the mother of Mrs. VanBuskirk at Paterson, N. J., who is not expected to live. She is suffering from cancer.

On Monday evening the streets were filled with masked parties, calling and having a good time generally. Some families entertained between sixty and seventy.

Two enterprising umbrella men passed through town the other day with a wagon drawn by four goats. They had a stove and a complete set of tools to mend tinware, sweepers, umbrellas, etc.

Lewis Wright, son of George Wright, was taken with appendicitis, and on Tuesday of this week went to St. Francis' Hospital, where an operation was performed, and at last accounts was doing well.

Mr. William Foster slipped from a train at White Marsh and dislocated his knee. He telegraphed for Dr. Woodman, who went out to him, getting there about 1 o'clock p. m., about three hours after Mr. Foster was hurt. He was brought home in a cab.

Mrs. Mary Whalen, of Newtown, was on Wednesday last suddenly taken violently insane. She was taken to St. Francis' Hospital, and Lawyer Moffett, 'Squire Wright and Dr. Woodman were appointed to investigate and report to Judge Yerkes.

The Boys' Brigade of the Presbyterian Church held a social on Monday, at which Rev. F. Cornwell Jennings was requested to attend, the Brigade knowing this would probably be the only chance for them to see Mr. Jennings before he goes to his new church. They presented him with a handsome silk umbrella.

On Sunday, November 20, Rev. E. W. Hart will hold an old folks' meeting in the morning. The sermon will be particularly adapted to them, and the hymns will also be old-fashioned. All persons over 60 who attend will receive a token in remembrance of the occasion. Those who are not able to walk will be provided with carriages.

LOWER BENSALEM.

Mr. James Moore is very ill.

Miss Marian Paratete has gone to Philadelphia for the winter.

Dr. Schenck and family moved to the city on Thursday last for the winter.

Mr. Jesse L. Johnson and his son, Elmer, spent Sunday a week with relatives near Newtown Square.

Miss Cordella Boutcher, of Cornwells, who has been a sufferer for some time, was buried Saturday afternoon.

Ex-Senator C. S. Vandegrift, Messrs. John G. Vandegrift, and Wilmer Ott attended the Teachers' Institute one day.

The teachers of the Bensalem public schools have resumed their work after a pleasant and profitable week spent at the Institute at Doylestown.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all druggists.

Germania Orchestra Concerts.

The series of twenty symphony concerts to be given in Witherspoon Hall, Juniper and Walnut streets, which commence this afternoon, promises to be notable among the musical events of the year. The advance sale of tickets has been good, and the idea of a permanent symphony orchestra to be maintained in Philadelphia by popular support alone promises to meet with the support it deserves. The Germania Orchestra, with its record of over forty years' continuous service, is unquestionably the organization best fitted to bear the responsibilities pertaining to a Philadelphia permanent symphony orchestra, and while its members have re-embarked upon the enterprise simply as a labor of love, the music-loving people of that city should see that the attendance reaches a figure not only sufficient to insure them against loss, but reimburse the orchestra for their expenditure of time and money.

William Stoll, Jr., the efficient conductor, has inaugurated a series of rehearsals and the orchestra will be in condition to do good work this season. The programme for the opening concert this afternoon consists of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, Mendelssohn's Midsummer Night's Dream overture and the ballet music from the opera "Feramors," by Rubinstein.

Special Trains to Yale-Princeton Football Game via Pennsylvania Railroad.

For the accommodation of persons desiring to witness the great football contest between Yale and Princeton, at Princeton, at Princeton, Saturday, November 12th, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged to run special trains leaving Bristol at 11.11 A. M., and returning at the close of the game. Round-trip tickets good only on special trains in each direction will be sold at rate of $1.00.

HULMEVILLE.

HULMEVILLE PEOPLE ATTEND TEACHERS' INSTITUTE AT DOYLESTOWN—OYSTER SUPPER POSTPONED—COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS—OTHER ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Mr. Foster has removed from Hulmeville to Langhorne.

The fire company held its meeting on last Tuesday evening.

John Bennett has removed from Trenton avenue to Main street.

Mr. Samuel Goslin, of Newportville, was taken quite ill on Sunday last.

Miss Elmira Harrison, of Lambertville, visited Miss Lizzie Douglass this week.

The purchaser of the real estate of the late Joseph Class will remodel and paint the building before moving into the same.

The date of the supper to be given by the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church has been changed from November 19 to December 3.

Owing to the telephone not being completed, a number of our people went to Bristol and Philadelphia in order to get election news last Tuesday night.

The Vansant property was surveyed last Saturday by Charles Henry Moon, of Woodbourne. Mr. Moon had some trouble in finding the corner stones.

In addition to the teachers, the Bucks county institute was attended last week by Mr. and Mrs. Spencer B. Hibbs, Mr. John Johnson and daughter, Mrs. Laura V. Kirk, Mrs. E. W. Martindell and Miss Clara Hellings. The School Directors of the district who attended the Directors' Convention on Thursday are Messrs. George Douglass, David Harrison and Benjamin Woodman.

A meeting of the Council was held on Monday evening. The members present at the meeting were Charles Laros, Howard Vansant, A. S. Shaw, Harry Magill, Fred Sisake and Allen Vansant. A number of bills were passed and orders drawn on the treasurer for same. The Highway Committee was instructed to have the sidewalks repaired and preparations are being made for same.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or woman can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a great discourager of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptons are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They lead to dyspepsia and worse things. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. There is no case of billousness, constipation, indigestion, "heartburn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure.

Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, illustrated.

EVERY FAMILY

Should keep in the house a cure for croup, something absolutely safe and reliable, that will disarm the terror of that dread rattling, strangling cough, so fearful to the mother, so fatal to the child. Stretch's Balsam Wild Cherry and Horehound is a cure for croup that can be relied on; thousands say so.

William H. Beable, agt. of the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society, of Paterson, N. J., writes: Stretch's Balsam saved the life of my child when suffering with a severe attack of croup in the night after everything else failed. Sold by leading druggists in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

Personally-Conducted Tours via Pennsylvania Railroad.

SEASON OF 1898-9.

The Personally-Conducted Tourist System of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is the most complete and elaborate system of pleasure traveling and sight-seeing yet devised. It is the consummation of the ultimate idea in railroad travel, the final evolution of unassailable perfection.

For the season of '98 and '99 it has arranged for the following tours:—

California—Tour will leave New York, Philadelphia and Harrisburg February 9. Nineteen days will be spent in California. The party will travel over the entire route by the "Golden Gate Special," the finest train that crosses the continent.

Florida—Four tours to Jacksonville will leave New York and Philadelphia January 24, February 7 and 21 and March 7. The first three admit of a stay of two weeks in the "Flowery State." Tickets for the fourth tour will be good to return by regular trains until May 31, 1899.

Old Point Comfort, Richmond and Washington—Seven tours will leave New York and Philadelphia December 27, January 28, February 25, March 18, April 1, 15 and 29.

Old Point Comfort—Seven tours will leave New York and Philadelphia December 27, January 28, February 25, March 18, April 1, 15 and 29.

Washington—Seven tours will leave New York and Philadelphia December 27, January 19, February 16, March 9 and 28, April 20, and May 11.

Detailed itineraries of the above tours, giving rates and full information, may be procured of Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York, 860 Fulton street, Brooklyn, 789 Broad street, Newark, N. J.; or Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia.

To Cure Catarrh

Do not depend upon snuffs, inhalants or other local applications. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, and can be successfully treated only by means of a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly purifies the blood and removes the scrofulous taints which cause catarrh. The great number of testimonials from those who have been cured of catarrh by Hood's Sarsaparilla prove the unequalled power of this medicine to conquer this disease. If troubled with Catarrh give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial at once.

The testimonials in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla are written by honest people who want you to know what it has done for them.

Board and Rooms.

Desirable rooms, all conveniences, furnished or unfurnished, with or without board, at reasonable rates. Also table boarders. Cor. Mill & Cedar streets, above Child's Grocery.

THURSDAY NOVEMBER 10, 1898.

THE TRIUMPH.

The election of Colonel Stone and the rest of the Pennsylvania State ticket over the allied foes of the Republican party after a bitter contest is the most decisive victory the Republicans of Pennsylvania have gained in recent years.

In the face of the energetic opposition of the so-called Business Men's League, headed by John Wanamaker and Rudolph Blankenburg; in spite of the efforts of the well-meaning but erratic and irresponsible Dr. Swallow, and contrary to the advice, expostulations, clamor and misleading statements of the opposition press, the gallant Colonel W. A. Stone, the Republican candidate for Governor, secures his election by a magnificent plurality of over 120,000 votes.

This result proves that when the right men are nominated for office that the great mass of Pennsylvania Republicans can be confidently depended upon to rally to the support of the ticket, when its success is threatened by foes within and outside of the party organization.

Vituperation and slander, so largely indulged in by the opponents of Republicanism, failed miserably in producing any effect. The verdict of the people as expressed at the polls is a complete refutation of the base insinuations that the State Treasury was looted of public funds, the State Capitol set on fire, and other crimes and irregularities committed. The people do not believe such improbable fictions of diseased brains and therefore set their seal of condemnation upon their authors.

Mr. Wanamaker, Dr. Swallow, Mr. Jenks and other impracticable politicians can now retire from public view with the knowledge that their united endeavors to break down the Republican party in Pennsylvania was all wasted energy as far as the purpose for which it was spent is concerned. As an object lesson for future consideration by self-constituted reformers they may not have fought in vain.

Swallow took a "flyer" with disastrous results.

The Bristol "Swallows" were a sorry looking lot Wednesday morning. The next time they will not "crow" so soon.

Chairman Elkin is pretty handy with the pencil, and is wonderfully accurate in figuring majorities, pluralities, etc.

We now look for a speedy prosecution of the Quay criminal charges. As politics did not enter into the action there should be no halt in the proceedings.

As a result of an explosion a portion of the Capitol at Washington is in ruins. Dr. Swallow probably has proof that the destruction was caused by his political opponents.

David Martin, of Philadelphia, has not touched liquor for more than twelve years, nor has Chris. Magee for more than a quarter of a century.

An old legend says that the devil once gave a hermit the choice of three great vices, one of which was drunkenness. The hermit chose this as being the least sinful. He became drunk and committed the other two.

The Republican Campaign Committee should lose no time in closing a contract for next season with the Hon. John Wanamaker. His services are indispensable to the success of a straight Republican ticket.

Lower Bucks could not be shaken from her foundations. It is a pleasure to look over the returns of the boroughs, villages and districts of the lower end and see how they remained true to the Republican party.

It is said that probably Quay will not be a candidate for re-election. Did you notice the large chunks of harmony which were laying around Philadelphia and Pittsburg during this campaign? Keep a weather eye on the Hon. Chris. Magee.

Kansas is close and the result is yet in doubt. In the meantime we will hope for the best, and for Kansas's sake may it be finally revealed that honest government, sound money and protection is once more to be planted in the soil of the Sunflower State.

Nebraska has turned a back somersault. Bryan was repudiated in his own State. The Republicans carried the day by 80,000, electing a Governor, Legislature and four out of six Congressmen. A Republican will occupy the place of Populist John V. Allen in the United States Senate.

In Philadelphia, the home of John Wanamaker, who was conspicuously arrayed against the Republican Gubernatorial candidate, a token of esteem was accorded Colonel Stone by the people of the City of Brotherly Love, in the shape of a plurality of over 80,000 votes.

The Press, Ledger and Telegraph, Wanamaker organs, which endeavored to incite the people to rebellion, cannot gather the fruits of their labors. The Gubernatorial candidate, whom they tried to destroy, and the Legislature which they tried to upset, are intact. The Congressional candidates which they endeavored to preserve, went down.

The State of Washington has redeemed itself. The Republicans have carried the Evergreen State by 3000 over the combined opposition of Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans. James Hamilton Lewis is defeated for Congress by Francis W. Cushman, a sound money Republican. The Legislature is Republican and will elect a Senator to succeed John L. Wilson. The State was carried by Bryan in 1896 by 13,000.

The treasurer of the School Board of Skippack township, I. H. Johnson, Esq., wrote to State Treasurer Beacom requesting the school appropriation coming to the township. A day or two later the State Treasurer sent a check for the full amount, $1800. Dambly, poor soul, has had an attack of the distemper because it cost the district a two-cent stamp to get the amount. He has evidently been so used to quick returns in the newspaper business that it has warped his judgment in criticising the methods employed in less lucrative and more languid enterprises.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

Democrats Overwhelmed in Bucks County.

BRISTOL LOYAL TO THE STANDARD

After a bitter contest, in which the Republicans of Bucks county had not only the Democrats to confront, but also the worst lot of combinations the party has ever had to deal with, victory perches upon the banner of the party of Abraham Lincoln.

The Republicans have elected their whole county ticket by majorities ranging from 500 to 1000.

Bristol has proved herself to be the banner Republican borough of the county. On Tuesday 1316 votes were cast in the four wards. The highest majority given any candidate was accorded to Captain Edwards, who received 999 votes. Colonel Stone's majority over Jenks in the borough was 299, and Fish for Register received a majority of 437.

Tickets were cut in nearly every district in the county and apparently without any reason. For instance, in some districts where it was claimed Swallow would get a tremendous vote it turned out to be light, and in other districts it was surprisingly large. Republicans who were not known to have a political enemy in their party were badly cut for some reason, and others who were sure that they would meet with reverses in certain quarters were sustained loyally.

Many Republicans voted for Jenks and many did not vote for any Gubernatorial candidate.

Arrayed against the party were the Democrats, Prohibitionists and disgruntled Republicans, but the regulars stood shoulder to shoulder and downed the whole combination.

The county gives a small plurality of 352 for Jenks. Wanger, Republican, is re-elected for the fourth time to Congress, receiving a plurality of 851 in this part of the district. Hampton W. Rice, Republican, is elected to the State Senate by a plurality of 957 over Jacob Hagerty, Democrat. Winner, Wilkinson and Edwards, Republicans, go to the Assembly with pluralities ranging from 500 to 800, Edwards being high man. Other majorities are: County Treasurer, William H. Wollery, Republican, 941; Register of Wills, John T. Fish, Republican, 749; Director of the Poor, Howard Y. Rich, Republican, 250; Coroner, W. P. Kunsman, Republican, 725; County Surveyor, Edward R. Kirk, Republican, no opposition.

Teachers' Institute and Directors' Association.

EDITOR OF GAZETTE:—The annual meeting of the Bucks County Teachers' Institute was held last week in the court house at Doylestown. It was a gratification to all concerned to have an unbroken week of fair weather.

The Institute is always largely attended. The teachers of the county, who are creditably faithful in attending, necessarily make up the bulk of the audience, but many others are always present, attracted thither by their interest in the varied exercises of the occasion. These are usually fresh, attractive and interesting, and they never fail to be instructive.

At the afternoon sessions the large and beautiful court room is invariably well filled, and oftimes to its fullest capacity. Thursday afternoon in particular is the time when the attendance is greatest, and during the two hours covered by the session every seat is usually occupied, and many are obliged to stand. This was the case last Thursday afternoon. The seats were all taken and a solid throng of men and women filled the space fronting the doorway, spreading out in lines along the wall on either side, and giving evidence of marked patience and powers of endurance as well as unflagging interest in the proceedings, at the expense of personal comfort.

Thursday is called "Directors' Day." It is considered the most important day of institute week. Last Thursday, as usual, the Directors met in the assembly room of the imposing school building, of which Doylestown has reason to be proud. The attendance was large, completely filling the room, many being obliged to stand. Forty of the forty-six school districts of the county were represented. Every year there seems to be an increase of interest shown in the work and objects of the association. A number of lady directors were present.

On this occasion John K. Wildman, president of the Directors' Association for the current year, occupied the chair, and Charles T. Wilkinson was in his place as secretary. Papers were read as follows: "The Minimum School Term Should be Increased," by J. Frank Afflerbach, Haycock; "English Classics in the Public Schools," A. H. Kitteman, Esq., Quakertown; "The Public School Library," William Wynkoop, Newtown. The discussion of the subjects of these papers was participated in by Oswin C. Keiper, Milford, Charles G. Fetterolf, Langhorne; H. W. Cressman and Reed Fretz, Bedminster; William W. Hurley, Solebury; Dr. Charles R. King, Bensalem, and H. B. Eastburn, Esq., Doylestown. Others spoke briefly on topics allied to the subjects discussed.

At the close of the discussion General W. W. H. Davis requested a hearing before the association, who stated that he would soon issue a revised edition of his "History of Bucks County." A limited number of copies would be printed and a liberal proposition was made to the Directors with the view of having them purchase the work for the school libraries of the county.

In the afternoon the Directors held their meeting in the court house in conjunction with the Institute. As before stated the room was crowded to overflowing. In the beginning music gave its charm to the interesting occasion, under the capable direction of Webster Grim. J. K. Wildman presided and delivered his address as president of the Directors' Association, having chosen for his subject "The Spirit of Progress in the Public Schools." The paper was requested for publication in the Bucks County Intelligencer.

After another selection of music, in which a multitude of voices took part in the usual pleasing way, Professor E. L. Kemp gave "A Lesson in Literature," which was highly entertaining and every way admirable. The professor is an adept in the rare art of amusing as well as the higher faculty of instructing. He chose for his theme, to illustrate his method of teaching, "The Destruction of Sennacherib," that beautiful poem by Lord Byron, beginning with the line, "The Assyrian came down like a wolf on the fold." He commanded the closest attention of the audience, handling his subject in an admirable and attractive manner.

He was followed by Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston, whose subject was "Training as a Factor in Education." The doctor is an earnest speaker. He enforced attention, not only by his vigorous manner and eloquent power of speech, but likewise by his inspiriting thoughts, which seemed to flow from an inexhaustible fountain. No one could have listened to him without advantage. No one could have heard him without feeling conscious of the inspiring force of his words, which could not fail to quicken the mind and impart energy. All seemed to enjoy his address, which was happy in illustration, rich in practical suggestions, and well filled with weighty facts which gave their value to the lesson he sought to impart—the high importance of right training to fit one for success in the busy arena of life.

After some formal business pertaining to the work of the Institute, under the direction of Superintendent Slotter, the meeting adjourned. * * *

STONE'S PLURALITY.

Governor-Elect of Pennsylvania Leads by Probably 125,000.

DR. SWALLOW COMES IN THIRD.

The Ballots Cast For the Prohibition Candidate Count Up 124,437—Democrats and Fusionists Make Gains in the Legislative Vote.

Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—The complete vote of the state, with the exception of Armstrong, Erie, Washington and Wayne counties, gives Stone 455,782 votes, Jenks 333,783, Swallow, 124,437, a plurality for Stone of 122,089, which will be increased to above 125,000 by the complete returns. The total vote in the state will approximate 950,000. The vote by counties is shown in the following table:

Of the 30 congressmen elected 22 are surely Republican. The last congressional delegation from this state stood: Republicans, 27; Democrats, 3.

The Republicans also elected 25 of the 50 senators and 204 members of assembly. The Democratic and fusionist net gain on joint ballot in the legislature is probably between 20 and 30, but the body which elects a successor to United States Senator Quay remains strongly Republican, and the Quay leaders claim that, notwithstanding the fight against him, the senator will control enough members of the legislature to insure his election if he decides to be a candidate to succeed himself.

Democrats Concede Ohio.

Columbus, Nov. 9.—Chairman Blacker, of the Democratic state committee, concedes the state to the Republicans by over 40,000 plurality, and Chairman Daugherty, of the Republican state committee, claims about 60,000. The Ohio congressional delegation remains the same as at present, 15 to 6, each party carrying precisely the same districts as at the presidential election two years ago. The Democrats do not concede the re-election of Congressman Weaver in the Seventh district, the home of Governor Bushnell. During the Hanna senatorial contest last January Congressman Weaver headed a delegation that called on Governor Bushnell and protested against the governor's action in the senatorial contest.

McMillin's Majority in Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 9.—The Democratic executive committee claims 25,000 majority for McMillin. The Republican committee concedes McMillin's election by 10,000 majority. The legislature shows Democratic gains. Congressmen: Eight Democrats; two Republicans. The vote throughout the state light.

Republican Governor of Nevada.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 9.—Indications point to the election of McMillin, Rep., for governor; Newlands, silver, for congress; Flannigan, Rep., senate, and at least two out of the four assemblymen for this district.

Indiana's Republican Plurality.

Indianapolis, Nov. 10.—The Republicans have carried Indiana by a majority of between 15,000 and 20,000. Chairman Martin, of the Democratic state committee, concedes a Republican plurality of 14,500. A Republican will succeed Turpie in the United States senate.

Fusionist Lind Wins Alone.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—John Lind, Silver Republican, with Democratic and Populist endorsement, will have not less than 10,000 plurality in the state over Eustis, Republican, but Lind is the only fusion candidate to win. All seven Republican congressmen have been elected.

Pingree's Great Plurality.

Detroit, Nov. 10.—According to more complete returns Governor Pingree's plurality will reach about 70,000. The Republicans have elected a solid representation of 12 congressmen.

Fusion Wins in Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 10.—The fusion ticket is all elected by pluralities ranging from 5,000 to 8,000. The legislature will be controlled by the fusionists.

NEW JERSEY'S ELECTION

Voorhees Wins for Governor by 5,000 Plurality—The Legislature Also Republican.

Trenton, Nov. 10.—The New Jersey legislature will stand exactly as it did last year. In Tuesday's election the Republicans lost the assemblyman from Salem, but gained one in Passaic county, where a year ago one of the four Democrats was elected. This year Passaic returned four Republicans. The house will stand 37 Republicans and 23 Democrats. This was as it stood in the present year. The senate will again stand 14 Republicans and 7 Democrats. Thus on joint ballot the Republicans will have 51 votes, against a total Democratic vote of 30. This insures the election of a Republican to succeed James Smith, Democrat, in the national senate. Ex-Congressman Kean is conceded to be the choice of the Republicans.

Seven of the senators elected Tuesday will hold office until 1901, and have a vote for the successor of United States Senator William J. Sewell. Of the seven six are Republicans. The Democrat is Allan McDermott, of Hudson. The election of the six Republican senators on Tuesday makes it almost impossible that the Republicans should lose control of that body for at least two years, and makes it reasonably sure that the Republicans will have a majority in the senate for the next four years, unless in the elections next November strong Republican counties should fail. Thus Governor-elect Voorhees is reasonably sure of having the senate Republican throughout his term.

Regarding the plurality of Governor-elect Voorhees there is considerable difference of opinion, some Republicans claiming that it will reach 12,000, while Mr. Voorhees himself believes that it will count up 10,000 at least. A conservative estimate, however, would indicate that it will be little over 5,000.

Soldier Vote at Camp Meade.

Middletown, Pa., Nov. 9.—The soldier vote at Camp Meade was: Fourth regiment. Stone, 226; Jenks, 124; Swallow, 10. Fifth regiment: Stone, 151; Jenks, 147; Swallow, 55. Fourteenth regiment: Stone, 226; Jenks, 124; Swallow, 10. Fifteenth regiment: Stone, 151; Jenks, 157; Swallow, 55. Eighth regiment: Stone, 350; Jenks, 190; Swallow, 100; Gobin, 375; Sowden, 225. Thirteenth regiment: Stone, 209; Jenks, 103; Swallow, 138; Gobin, 341; Sowden, 71. Company I, Fourth Pennsylvania regiment, voted at its armory in Harrisburg, with the following result: Stone, 20; Jenks, 18; Swallow, 3.

Colorado Fusionists Victorious.

Denver, Nov. 9.—The entire fusion state ticket, headed by Charles S. Thomas, Democrat, for governor, is elected by a majority approximating about 50,000. This is by far the largest majority ever given a candidate for governor in Colorado, but is less than half of Bryan's majority for president. The Republicans won in only one county in the eastern part of the state. Of 17 holdover senators it appears the Republicans have secured two, and in three districts the result is doubtful. The fusionists have an overwhelming majority in the legislature.

Missouri's Democratic by 30,000.

St. Louis, Nov. 9.—Returns from all over Missouri are coming in very slowly, and though far from complete everything received points to the election of the entire Democratic state ticket by at least 30,000 majority and the selection of a majority of members of the legislature, insuring the re-election of United States Senator Cockrell. Three Republican congressmen in St. Louis have been re-elected, and it is probable that all the 12 congressional districts outside the city will be represented by Democrats.

Two West Virginia Republicans.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 10.—The Republicans have elected two congressmen in West Virginia sure, Dovener in the First and Freer in the Fourth district. Both parties claim the Second and Third. Chairman Dawson, of the Republican state committee, claims a legislative majority on joint ballot of 13, insuring the election of a Republican United States senator as successor to Faulkner, Democrat. Chairman Ohley, of the Democratic committee, claims the legislature on joint ballot.

The Defeat of Charles A. Towne.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—One of the hardest fights of the campaign was in the Sixth congressional district, where Congressman Page Morris, Rep., was pitted for a second time against his predecessor, Charles A. Towne, Silver Republican, secretary of the national Silver Republican party, and it seems to have resulted in the defeat of Mr. Towne. Returns from all parts of the district give Morris a plurality of over 1,100, with the Towne strongholds yet to come.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 10.—Chairman Kidd, of the Populist state committee, claims the election of Lee, fusion, for governor by 1,200. Chairman Herreid, of the Republican committee, says that Phillips, Republican, is elected by at least 1,800. Turke and Gamble, Republicans, are surely elected to congress. The Republican state ticket, except governor, is elected. Both sides persistently claim the governorship.

North Dakota's Republican Majority.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 10.—Today's figures from the largest counties, although far from complete, make Republican majority certain on almost the entire state ticket from 4,200 to 4,800. It is estimated that the Republicans have a majority in the legislature on joint ballot of 30. Spalding, Republican nominee for congress, leads the ticket by 500 to 800.

Wyoming Goes Republican.

Cheyenne, Nov. 9.—Wyoming has gone Republican on the state and congressional tickets in majorities ranging from 1,000 to 18,000 votes. The legislature is also undoubtedly Republican, and will elect a Republican senator to succeed C. D. Clark.

Quiet Election in Arkansas.

Little Rock, Nov. 9.—The congressional election in Arkansas was the quietest held in many years, only 300 votes being polled, and that is about the ratio throughout the state. All of the old congressmen were re-elected.

Iowa's Republican Majority.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 9.—It is estimated that the Republican plurality on the state ticket will be about 45,000. Chairman Hancock, of the Republican state congressional committee, is confident the count will show 60,000. Returns do not show a single Democratic congressman elected, but Chairman Townsend, of the Democratic committee, refuses to recede from the following statement made very early this morning: "We confidently claim the election of General Weaver in the Sixth district and believe that full returns will show the election of other Democratic congressmen from Iowa."

The Vote of Massachusetts.

Boston, Nov. 10.—The total vote for governor in Tuesday's election was: Wolcott, Rep., 190,246; Bruce, Dem., 106,898; Republican plurality, 83,348. The senate of 1899 will stand: Republicans, 33; Democrats, 7. The house will stand: Republicans, 165; Democrats, 67; independents, 2; Social Democrats, 2; Prohibitionists, 1; non-partisan, 1. There are two ties to be decided either by a recount or another election. The Democrats made a substantial gain in the house.

FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

Latest Returns Show Democratic Gains in the Lower House.

SIBLEY WINS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Seven Other Democrats Also Elected in the Keystone State—New Jersey Elects Two Democratic Congressmen and Maryland a Like Number.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Chairman Babcock, of the Republican congressional committee, said last evening that the house of representatives of the Fifty-sixth congress would be Republican without doubt. Throughout the day and evening a corps of political statisticians have been at work in Republican headquarters compiling and analyzing the returns. In a statement to the press representatives Chairman Babcock said:

"There can be no longer any reasonable argument over the political complexion of the next house of representatives. It will be Republican, beyond the shadow of a doubt. Our advices show the certain election of 185 Republicans, six more than enough to give us control. These are straight Republicans, and our majority will be over the combined opposition. Our information induces us to place nine districts in doubt. These are the Seventh California, the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Nebraska, the Seventeenth, Nineteenth and Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania and the Twelfth Texas. We are reasonably certain to get some of these. Without them, however, we have a clear majority and are resting perfectly easy."

At the headquarters of the Democratic congressional committee confidence is expressed that the Democrats will control the next house of representatives. Secretary Kerr will not concede many of the claims made by Chairman Babcock, of the Republican committee, and says that in a large number of districts it will require the official count to determine definitely the result.

"It seems certain," said Secretary Kerr, to a press representative, "that we have elected 183 members of the next house, the Republicans 163, and that of 11 districts are in doubt. In New York we will have 21 members, in Pennsylvania 9 and perhaps 10, in Kansas 4 at least, and perhaps 5, in Nebraska 4, in North Carolina 9 and in California 2 or 3. Our figures are based upon definite returns and I am satisfied that they are entirely accurate."

Following is a list of congressmen-elect compiled from the latest newspaper dispatches. It shows that the Republicans have elected 181 members, while the Democrats, silver Republicans, fusionists and all others have elected 163 members. There are 13 doubtful districts yet to be heard from.

Those marked (*) are Democrats.

Ten Democrats From Kentucky.

Louisville, Nov. 10.—The latest returns from the Ninth congressional district indicate that Mordecai Williams, Democrat, of Catlettsville, has defeated the incumbent, Samuel Pugh, Republican, of Vanceburg, by a majority of about 180. This gives the Democrats ten of the eleven congressmen from Kentucky, a gain of three congressmen for the Democrats in the state. The Fifth, Eighth and Ninth are the districts that somersaulted into the Democratic camp.

McMillan Governor of Nevada.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 10.—Washie county has gone Republican on governor and legislative ticket. Returns from the state indicate that McMillan, Rep., is elected governor.

Texas' Democratic Majority 200,000.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 9.—The foregone certainty of the election of the Democratic state ticket deprived yesterday's election of exciting interest. Outside of the Tenth and Twelfth congressional districts and in a few counties where the Populists were in control there was nothing to draw out a big vote. Probably 400,000 votes were polled, and of these Major Sayres, the Democratic nominee for governor, has a majority estimated by Chairman Bell, of the Democratic state committee, of at least 200,000. Every district returned a Democratic congressman with the exception of the Tenth, and an official count will be necessary to decide this district.

The Vote of New Hampshire.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 9.—Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, chairman of the Republican state committee, issued this statement at midnight: "The indications show the election of Rollins for governor by from 8,000 to 10,000 majority, and that the Republicans will have from 18 to 20 of the 24 state senators, and nearly the same majority in the house as two years ago. Both Republican congressmen are elected."

Bristol Defeated by Trenton Tigers.

On last Saturday afternoon at the Bristol Driving Park the Bristol A. A. was defeated by the Trenton Tigers in a game of football by the score of 6 to 5. The game was very evenly contested. After about fifteen minutes' play in the first half Cauldwell, of the Trenton's, made a touchdown, and Rue kicked the goal. The Bristols did their scoring in the second half after about ten minutes' play. Head, by some magnificent line bucking, was pushed over the line for a touchdown; the kick out being fumbled, no goal was kicked. The line-up was as follows:

TRENTON.	POSITIONS.	BRISTOL.
Seabridge	centre	Keim
Kuhn	right guard	Dougherty
Rue	right tackle	Bingham
Raub	right end	Star
Cubberly	quarter back	Downing
Votta	right half back	Kilbride
Cauldwell	full back	(Capt.) Head

Touchdowns—Cauldwell, 1; Head, 1. Goal—Rue. Referee—Ed. Benders. Umpire—James Webb. Linesmen — Wright Marshall and Fred Nevegold. Time—Two 20 minute halves.

On Saturday, November 12th, Bristol will play Burlington at Burlington.

TRENTON ADVERTISEMENTS.

The Jenness Miller Shoe

has created more interest; met the needs and wishes of more patrons than any ladies' $3.50 shoe we ever had the good fortune to handle.

And it is but natural, when you come to examine its worthiness. Graceful, beautifully made, sensible, comfortable. Is there any other shoe-virtue you need?

It has the happy faculty of being comfortable upon almost any shape of foot, and meets all the requirements of good taste and health.

Mrs. Jenness Miller says it's the only shoe agreeing with her views of what footwear should be. It was made to suit her ideas. That's one reason it's popular. But it's fine enough to be a great seller under any name.

Glad to show it to you.

Ellerslie Groom, Bromley Wharton, Henry Baker and William Silbert left this morning for Burlington, and in company with Mayor McNeal and Fred Pfeffer will go several miles back in the county to Edward Woodward's farm, where they will gun for rabbits. After the shooting is over Mr. Woodward will prepare a fine roast duck dinner with all the trimmings for the weary hunters. The Bristolians expect to bring home about fifty rabbits. Last year the same party were treated to a sauer kraut supper and brought home 29 rabbits and 7 quail.

Arrested as a Nuisance.

Mrs. Mary Worrell, who lives upon the river bank, opposite the Catholic parsonage, was arrested and given a hearing before Judge Booz last Monday evening, charged with being a nuisance. The complainant, Mrs. Mary L. Gilkeson, averred that "at divers times during the past year Mrs. Worrell did use vile and obscene language, greatly to the annoyance of the complainant."

Leonard B. Gilkeson also made affidavit that Mrs. Worrell had threatened to shoot him, and asked that she be bound over to keep the peace.

The case was continued until December 3 and the defendant bound over in the sum of $100 upon her own recognizance to keep the peace until that time.

A Dewey Club.

The Dewey Club is the title of an association of Republican voters which is enjoying a healthy existence in the Third ward. The club was organized some weeks ago and has a neatly fitted up room at 506 Bath street, and a membership of twenty. The officers of the organization are: President, Henry Hibbs; secretary, J. W. McGinley; treasurer, Frank Bloodgood.

High Balls.

John Derrish on Monday was enjoying a game of foot ball on Lafayette street, opposite the stone row, with a number of small boys. John had been enjoying the flowing bowl just before he joined in the game. He got the ball mixed and instead of kicking the real thing, spent his energy on an imaginary high ball, which made him lose his balance and fall violently to the ground. A broken collar bone was the result.

Charged With Desertion.

Thomas E. Holland was taken before Judge Booz on Saturday on a warrant issued upon the complaint of his wife, Mrs. Alsceneia R. Holland, charging him with desertion. Holland agreed to contribute $1.50 per week toward the maintenance of two small children, and the hearing was postponed until December 2d

The Best Coal for Winter.

It is essential to select the best of coal for winter use, as it lasts longer and is less trouble. W. F. Leedom's coal is personally selected by himself, and is all boated from Mauch Chunk by Bristol boatmen, and his prices compete with Philadelphia and lower than Trenton and other nearby towns.

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT

AT THE MILL ST. CROSSING.

Joseph Schumard, of Burlington, N. J., Instantly Killed.

The second fatal accident within a week occurred at the Mill street crossing today. Train No. 51, a New York and Washington express due to pass through Bristol at 12.34, struck and instantly killed Joseph Schumard, of Burlington, while he was walking on the outer edge of the ties on the bridge over the race at the Mill street crossing.

Eastbound train No. 90, a New York and Philadelphia express, was passing the crossing at the same time, and the heavy atmosphere blew the steam and smoke from its engine across the westbound track obscuring the view so that the engineer of No. 51 did not see the man on the track and did not blow his whistle.

Cyrus Slack, the gate tender, saw Schumard on the track, carrying an umbrella back of him towards the on-coming train and yelled at him, but he thought the man was deaf as he apparently did not hear him.

John McOwen, who was standing at Osmond's gate, heard the warning and looked up the track just in time to see the train strike its victim with the side of the pilot and toss him into the little lane going into Osmond's yard.

The remains were carried to Rue's undertaking establishment, where the body was examined for identification. The man wore a long dark brown overcoat and thin black undercoat, had a silver watch and steel chain and a ferry ticket from Bristol to Burlington, numbered 377,974. He appeared to be about 65 years old.

It was not known who the victim was until Mr. Brewin, formerly of Burlington, identified the body as that of Mr. Joseph Schumard, living on Union street, three doors below the Methodist Church, in Burlington.

The ferry ticket was sold for the 10.30 boat this morning, when Mr. Schumard came over to see his son, who is a member of the 3d New Jersey Regiment, go through Bristol on an express train at about the time he was killed. The boy had been stationed at Pompton Lake, N. J., when the camp was broken, and he was on the way to winter quarters at Athens, Ga.

The Coroner was telegraphed for at Morrisville, and he will be here this afternoon to view the body and impanel a jury.

The Mill street crossing is said to be the most dangerous one between Jersey City and Philadelphia. In each direction there is a curve in the railroad which hides from view approaching trains except for a short distance. The watch tower where the gatemen are on duty gives them the opportunity of seeing trains that are hid from the view of pedestrians. The gatemen are careful and efficient employes, and of the many accidents that have happened at this point, none, we believe, can be charged to their negligence.

The railroad company's officials would have abolished the crossing at grade long ago if there were but the ordinary engineering difficulties to contend with in so doing. The canal is the barrier to an easy and satisfactory solution of the problem. In view of the frequency of accidents at this point, and the number of narrow escapes that are made almost daily, it would seem that the railroad company would not indulge in any further delay in abolishing this dangerous grade crossing.

Election Hats.

There were quite a number of hats bet upon the result for election of Governor in Bucks county. Those who lost by Jenks getting 250 votes plurality can get from Hottle, the Trenton hatter, a hat equal to the best $5 Derby for $3 and others for less money, at 33 East State street.

Library Shareholders' Meeting.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Bristol Library will be held in the Library Room this evening at 8 o'clock, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Board of Managers. The meeting as stated in the circular letter of the president, Mr. John K. Wildman, will be "for the purpose of considering the affairs of the library, and to take measures, if practicable, for advancing its financial interests. Its present revenues are insufficient to sustain it in an adequate way, or to meet its necessary expenses and admit of the continuous purchase of books. It will be imperative for the shareholders to increase their annual dues in order to make the library self-supporting, and to keep it in good form by providing it with fresh supplies of books, or else to adopt some plan that will assure its continued existence, involving a radical reduction of expenses. We may be pardoned for believing that Bristol ought to be able and willing to support a good library carefully managed, and we may be justified in deploring the unpleasant fact that our excellent library, the pride and pleasure of so many of us during the last twenty years, must experience the sad necessity of struggling for existence. A full attendance at the meeting is desirable and important."

Firemen's Relief Association.

The following delegates have been chosen by the different fire companies to meet in the parlor of America Hose, Hook and Ladder Co., No. 2, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of organizing the Bristol Firemen's Relief Association:

No. 1 Company—Franklin Gilkeson, Thomas Scott, Wright Marshall, Robert Clark.

No. 2 Company—Frank T. Chambers, Harry Brooks, Charles Guyon, H. H. H. Poole.

No. 3 Company—James M. Randall, John Appleton, William Butler, Doron Green.

These delegates will form the executive body of the organization and from which the officers will be selected.

The object of this association shall be to provide for and maintain a fund from legacies, bequests and other sources, for the relief, support and burial of its members who may be crippled or killed, or who may be prevented from attending to their usual occupation or calling on account of chronic ailments or permanent injury caused through exposure or accident while doing public fire duty, and for the pensioning of the widows and orphans, or dependent parents of members who may be killed or who may die from injuries received while in the discharge of their duties as firemen, and for such expenses necessary for the maintenance of the Relief Association.

Any volunteer fireman in the borough of Bristol in good standing in his company will be eligible for membership.

Bristol has been very fortunate in past years in not having any fatal accidents to firemen in the performance of their duty, and none seriously injured, but because there have been no accidents in the past is no reason why there should be no provision for maintaining a fund to aid in the future any unfortunate fireman or his family.

The Philadelphia Inquirer of Saturday contained the following compliment for a young Republican of Doylestown: One of the most popular of the young men on the stump in Pennsylvania, for the Republican State ticket, is John L. DuBois, Jr., of Doylestown, who is recognized by State Chairman Elkin as one of the best men on his staff of campaign orators.

Strong, steady nerves
Are needed for success
Everywhere. Nerves
Depend simply, solely,
Upon the blood.
Pure, rich, nourishing
Blood feeds the nerves
And makes them strong.
The great nerve tonic is
Hood's Sarsaparilla,
Because it makes
The blood rich and
Pure, giving it power
To feed the nerves.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Cures nervousness,
Dyspepsia, rheumatism,
Catarrh, scrofula,
And all forms of
Impure blood.

The Home of the Dress Goods Trade

in this city has been established so long here as to be generally recognized by Philadelphia's world of fashion. Never were these Stores better entitled to this distinction than they are to-day. Never were they better conditioned to maintain that position than now. They are in the minds of every European weaver of note when new and startling weaves are planned, and all that's newest and best finds its way to these great stocks as soon as its worthiness is recognized, and is promptly placed before the discriminating women who have always depended upon these Stores to keep them at the very forefront of fashion in their gown stuffs.

These are simple facts with which all well informed buyers of Dress Fabrics are perfectly familiar, and they are facts which are conceded in business circles where exactness of statement is the rule.

The season is now at its height. The stocks of Dress Goods are so rich in choosing and buying opportunity as to make the gown question, whether for street, dinner, reception or entertainment, a simple one. We to-day give description and price hints so significant as to keep the counters filled to their limit from now on. We do not believe that such styles, such variety and such values will be found elsewhere in this city or out of it.

A Great Naval Duel.

Henceforward—to use Nelson's words about his own most desperate action—"there was no maneuvering, there was only downright fighting," and great as was Jones' unquestionable merit as a handler of ships it was downright fighting endurance of the most extreme and individual character that won this battle. When thus in contact, the superiority of the British eighteens over the American twelves, though less than at a distance, was still great, but a far heavier disparity lay in the fabrics of the two enemies. The Richard was a very old ship, rotten, never meant for naval use. The Serapis was new, on her first commission. The fight hitherto having engaged the port guns of the latter, the starboard lower gunports were still closed, and from the ships touching could not be opened. They were therefore blown off, and the fight went on.

"A novelty in naval combats was now presented to many witnesses, but to few admirers," quaintly wrote Lieutenant Dale, who was in the midst of the scene below decks. "The rammers were run into the respective ships to enable the men to load"—that is, the staves of the rammers of one ship entered the ports of the other as the guns were being loaded. "We became so close fore and aft," reported Pearson, "that the muzzles of our guns touched each other's sides," and even so, by the testimony of the lieutenant on the lower gun deck of the Serapis, her guns could not be fully run out owing to the nearness of the vessels.—Captain Mahan in Scribner's.

An Anecdote of the Revolution.

Senator Bate of Tennessee told the following anecdote of Colonel Tom Sumter: Sumter was a great big giant of a fellow, with a voice like a fog horn. It is said his "holler" could be heard for miles. On one occasion when he was off on a foray the Tories came and captured his wife, Molly, and stripped the plantation of everything. When "Old Tom" came home and found Molly gone, his rage knew no bounds. Gathering together such forces as he could he put after the Tories. He overtook them on the third day and hung about until midnight. Then he deployed his forces around the camp and told them to await his orders to fire. He was afraid of Molly being shot in the melee. So when he got everything ready he opened his big mouth and let out a yell that fairly made the earth tremble: "Lay down, Molly! Lay down, Molly!" and Molly, recognizing those stentorian tones, fell prone on her face, and after the last "Lay down, Molly!" came the command fire and charge. Molly was recaptured without hurt.

What Bothered Him.

"When I was a young man," says a well known civil engineer, "I was surveying the route of a proposed railway. An old farmer with whom I stopped for a time admitted one day, when he saw me figuring in the field, that mathematics always seemed a wonderful thing to him. Being young and enthusiastic, I began to enlarge its wonders, telling him how we could measure the distances to different planets, and even weigh them; how we could ascertain the height of mountains without scaling them and many other things which I meant should astonish him.

"You can imagine how he set me back when he replied to this brilliant array of facts by saying: 'Yes, yes, thom things does seem kinder our'us, but what allus bothered me was to understand why you have to carry one fur ev'ry ten, but if you don't the durned thing won't come out right.'"—New York Tribune.

"Billington's Sea."

There is tangible evidence that the pious passengers of the Mayflower were not entirely without a sense of humor. Back of Plymouth over the hill upon which they planted their cannon is a large fresh water pond, perhaps a mile in diameter, which, it appears from the records, was discovered by John Billington while he was prowling around one night, probably on a scouting expedition looking for Indians. In the morning he reported that he had found the sea in that direction and there was a lively dispute between him and the other pilgrims as to the accuracy of his information. He stuck to his theory with the same tenacity that he adhered to his religion, and to this day that pond is called "Billington's sea."—Chicago Record.

Beyond Medical Skill.

Sandy (with a doleful headache)—I canna sleep o' nichts, sor, and so I'm loath to get up in the mornin.

Master—Eh, man, sleeplessness! Why don't you consult a doctor and get at the cause?

Sandy—I get at the cause weel enouch, but it'll no shut up. It's 6 weeks auld and an awful yeller.—Glasgow Times.

Inopportune Deaths.

Julius Cæsar was assassinated when he had almost completed the task of consolidating the administration and dominion of the Roman empire, and his death opened the way to that despotism and corruption which ultimately undid his work. Henry of Navarre was killed when he had almost healed the differences between Catholic and Protestant, which subsequently rent not only France, but Europe, and William the Silent also fell when he was on the point of uniting the Netherland provinces into a compact barrier against the encroachments of Spain.

In English history Lord Clive died at the moment when he was the one man who could have saved the American colonies and kept the Anglo-Saxon race united, but there is the case of Mirabeau. He was literally the one man in France who could have averted the horrors of the revolution, saved and reformed the monarchy and so spared Europe the murderous career of Napoleon and all the devastation it brought. If he had lived ten or even five years longer, the history not only of France, but of Europe and the world, would have been different. It is in fact sufficient to say that he would have made both Robespierre and Napoleon impossible.—Strand Magazine.

Pelican and Duck In a Duel.

In Kew gardens, in the presence of a considerable number of spectators, an affair of honor was settled between a pelican and a duck. The birds had had words together, so to speak, and the pelican determined that the next best thing to making the duck eat his words was to eat the duck. So, after a little thrust and parry on the water, he made for the smaller bird and snapped it into his pouch.

Then a battle royal began inside the pouch of the pelican. The duck struggled, kicked, quacked and occasionally managed to get a leg or a wing outside, while his captor threw his beak high in the air, then dipped it into the water, and kept it there, as if trying to suffocate or drown its enemy. From the look of the agitated pouch it seemed as if the contest was by no means one sided, but that the pelican was having rather a rough time.

At last the duck got his head and one wing out, and then, with a magnificent effort, managed to get entirely free. Once again on the water, the duck declined further combat and fled, while the pelican remained, looking as if honor were thoroughly satisfied.—London Telegraph.

Loving Cup Proprieties.

I have not seen any loving cup passed that is true to its name. The loving cup originated as a matter of precaution in olden times, when apparent friends had an unpleasant method of killing a friend who was a rival while he was drinking. So an immense heavy cup was made with a heavy cover. The method of using it can still be witnessed at banquets at the Mansion House in London.

The person receiving it stands and turns to his neighbor, who also rises and takes the cover with both hands. The first person then raises the heavy cup to his lips with both hands, and, having sipped of the contents, holds it while the friend at his side replaces the cover and takes the cup, repeating the same process in turn with his next neighbor. Thus, both hands being occupied, there is no possibility of one friend stabbing another.

In our time the custom has degenerated, and the cover, as a rule, disappeared. Nevertheless if both hands were occupied that would not prevent tongues from wagging later, and words are sometimes sharper than swords.—Philadelphia Times.

The Deacon's Possum Story.

"En hit come ter pass, my breddrin," said the old colored deacon, "dat a fine, fat possum wuz diskivered in de tiptop er a big pine tree, en dem whut diskivered him said one ter de yuther: 'Lo, now, let us each git on ax, en cut de tree down, en bag de possum, en take him home, en say grace over him, en eat, en grow fat!' En behol', dey went en done even ez dey said en got each man a ax, en one chop on one side en one on de yuther. But whilst dey wuz a-choppin at de tree, under de br'llin sun, come one dat dey knowed mighty well, en behol', he take his hat off, en lay his coat on de groun, en roll up his sleeves, en spit on his two han's, en climb ter de top er de tree, en grab de possum, en slide down, en run off wid it ter his own house, whar his fambly wuz a-waitin fer ter cook it. En when de two mens whut wuz choppin on de tree see whut happen dey said one ter de yuther, 'Whar does we come in?' En whilst dey wuz so sayin lo en behol' de tree come down en fallen on 'em, en de lan whar dey lived knowed 'em no mo' forever!'"—Atlanta Constitution.

Porpoise Oil.

Oils, animal, vegetable and mineral, are second in importance to but few domestic articles of commerce. Already medicinally invaluable in the bygone ages of hand labor, lubricants have become almost a condition of existence in this century of machinery, and of all oils porpoise oil is the finest, the most difficult to obtain, almost the most costly. The difficulty, be it incidentally remarked, lies not in expressing the oil from the porpoise, but in catching the porpoise itself. These cetaceans, like the fish they prey on, are most uncertain in their movements, at one time playing by the week in our very harbors, at others staying a whole month far from the coast. An economic and reliable method of obtaining a regular supply of porpoises from our seas would be worth a fortune.

At present their capture is no more than accidental. Porpoises are known to venture into salmon estuaries during spring flood tides, returning to salt water with the ebb, and, as an improvement on the present casual supply system, strong rope nets might be cast at the mouths of these estuaries to intercept the invaders as they leave. Probably, however, the ultimate solution will be found in the rifle and some particular cartridge, preferably fronted with soft, hollow lead to flatten in the creature's ribs. It may be that even with a fatal bullet the difficulty is not ended, for it has not yet been shown whether, when fatally hit, the porpoise sinks or floats.—London Spectator.

Webster Cowed Them.

William Wetmore Story, the sculptor and poet, was one of the few men who presumed to call Lowell "Jim" to the end, and Miss Mary E. Phillips, in her "Reminiscences of William Wetmore Story," tells, in Story's own words to her, the following tale of the two young men: "James Lowell and I were very angry with Webster for staying in old Tyler's cabinet, and as he was to speak in Faneuil hall on the evening of the 30th of September, 1842, we determined to go in (from the Harvard Law school) and hoot at him and show him that he had incurred our displeasure. There were 3,000 people there, and we felt sure that they would hoot with us, young as we were.

"But we reckoned without our host. Mr. Webster, beautifully dressed, stepped forward. His great eyes looked, as I shall always think, straight at me. I pulled off my hat; James pulled off his. We both became as cold as ice and as respectful as Indian coolies. I saw James turn pale; he said I was livid. And when the great creature began that most beautiful exordium, our scorn turned to deepest admiration, from an abject contempt to belief and approbation."

His Hair In Danger.

A young artist whose pipe, eyeglasses and luxuriant blond hair have made him well known in town went to a garden party not so much for social amusement as for pencil studies of high life. He wore a tall hat, frock coat and lavender trousers and carried a sketching block a yard square. At the party his epigrams, paradoxes and fiendish silvery laugh overwhelmed, as he intended, all the girls in sight or hearing, but he got through with his social duties as speedily as might be, then went and sat down on a distant fence.

Soon pencil studies lay all around him on the grass. Suddenly he felt a gentle tug at his back hair. He thought, "That is some fresh Alec trying to guy me," and he did not look up. The gentle tugging ceased, began again, became much stronger, and then he felt something wet, soft, slimy, on his neck. With a dreadful oath he leaped from the fence and looked behind him. Back there was a smart trap, in which sat two girls and a young man laughing. The horses were close to the fence, and it was one of these that had commenced browsing on the artist's profuse locks. Explanations followed and apologies. "All flesh," the artist said, "is grass, but not all hair."—Philadelphia Record.

Some Extraordinary Mothers.

Probably the youngest grandmother of whom we have record was a Lady Child of Shropshire, England. She had married at 12 years of age and had a child before her thirteenth year was completed. This child in turn married while still very young, with the result that Lady Child was a grandmother at 27. The most extraordinary cases of motherhood were those of Mrs. Honeywood of Charing, in Kent, and Lady Temple of Stow. When the former died, on May 10, 1820, aged 93, she counted as her descendants 16 children, 114 grandchildren, 228 great-grandchildren and 9 great-great-grandchildren. The other case was even more remarkable. Lady Temple, who died in 1656, had give birth to 4 sons and 9 daughters and lived to see more than 700 descendants.

Taste of Boiled Water.

In advocating the practice of boiling water (and milk) of uncertain purity Professor Bizzozero combats the prejudice against boiled water as a beverage. He maintains that the "taste" frequently complained of in boiled water is really caused by the kettle and can scarcely be due to the absence of dissolved air, of which water from wells of great depth often contains very little.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

As to the Links.

There is no more ardent evolutionist in the city and no more persistent advocate of Darwin's theory than Dr. d'Ancona. His friend, Dr. de Marville, on the other hand, is a great bird fancier and devotes all his spare time to an enthusiastic study of ornithology.

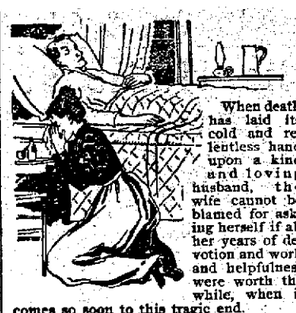

"I have a splendid specimen of a monkey in my office," remarked Dr. d'Ancona proudly. "Come in and see him," he continued, being a firm believer in the object method of demonstration. "You will admit that I have the missing link in a cage."

"That's all right," replied De Marville, absorbed in his own pet hobby. "I have a cage at home myself, and something in it too. You're not in it, and neither is your monkey. I can show you something much better than your missing link. I have got a bobolink."—San Francisco News Letter.

Prioleau and Calhoun.

The Pendletonians were justly proud of Mr. Calhoun and sensitive as to the impression which he made upon strangers. When Judge Prioleau became a resident, they were anxious to know his impressions of their Ajax. When they first met, as soon as Calhoun left the table, the question was eagerly asked, "How do you like him?"

"Not at all," was the newcomer's reply. "I desire never to meet him again." This was a sad rebuff, and an explanation was demanded. "I hate a man who makes me think so much," the judge replied. "For the last three hours I have been on the stretch trying to follow him through heaven and earth. I feel wearied with the effort, and I hate a man who makes me feel my own inferiority." Pendleton was appeased.—Exchange.

When death has laid its cold and relentless hand upon a kind and loving husband, the wife cannot be blamed for asking herself if all her years of devotion and work and helpfulness were worth the while, when it comes so soon to this tragic end.

If men would only take the most common sense precautions against the encroachments of ill-health, there would be fewer houses of mourning, and fewer women left alone almost helpless before the battle of life is half over. A man's liver and stomach are twin machines that work together, either to make or unmake. If they work wrong, they deplete and poison his blood. Impure and impoverished blood mean sickness and death. If they work right, they purify and enrich the blood. A man whose blood is rich and pure, and whose liver is active cannot well be unhealthy. Headaches, biliousness, indigestion and costiveness, which men generally disregard, are Nature's warnings that the twin mechanism, stomach and liver, is working against, instead of for him. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine to use under these circumstances. It creates appetite, corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and fills the arteries with rich, red, healthy blood. As an invigorating, restorative tonic, it is far superior to all the malt extracts. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It does not build sickly, flabby fat as cod-liver oil does, but the firm, muscular tissues of health.

"For the last nine years," writes William Miller, Esq., of 65½ Mulberry Street, Reading, Pa., "I have been very poor in health. I suffered with a running sore leg. I tried many kinds of different medicines, and doctors without relief. Then I used three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and can say that I am entirely cured. I can now do as good a day's work as the next man."

Snap Shots With a Graphophone.

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photographic camera is to the eye, and more, for the Graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one just as she sang it, and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. The GRAPHOPHONE

The most fascinating invention of the age. Always ready to entertain. It requires no skill to operate it and reproduce the music of bands, orchestras, vocalists or instrumental soloists. There is nothing like it for an evening's entertainment at home or in the social gathering. You can sing or talk to it and it will reproduce immediately and as often as desired, your song or words.

Other so-called talking machines reproduce only records of cut and dried subjects, specially prepared in a laboratory; but the Graphophone is not limited to such performances. On the Graphophone you can easily make and instantly reproduce records of the voice, or any sound. Thus it constantly awakens new interest and its charm is ever fresh. The reproductions are clear and brilliant.

Graphophones are sold for $10 and up
